

I-04.01 Description of State Highway System

The State Highway System consists of the following streets and highways:

1. National Highway System (Interstate) (NHSI)
2. National Highway System (Non-Interstate) (NHS) (selected segments of both federal and state highways, US & ND)
3. Other federal and state highways (US & ND)
4. Regional highways - portions of federal and state highways located within corporate limits of the state's 13 major cities, Primary and Secondary.

Although not a part of the State Highway System, there also are the following streets and highways that are constructed with federal aid highway funds:

Urban system streets and highways (U)
County federal aid system (C)

The proposed rural National Highway System for North Dakota is shown in Figure I-04.01.01. All other highways on the above mentioned systems, except for the county system, are shown in Figures I-04.01.02 A-M on the urban program maps for the 13 largest cities in North Dakota. These figures are available in hard copy from the Mapping Section in the Planning and Programming Division.

NDDOT has also classified all of the rural state highways into the following performance classifications:

Rural Interstate
Interregional
State Corridor
District Corridor
District Collector

The highways in the above classifications are shown on the map of the State Highway Performance Classification in Figure I-04.01.03 (available in hard copy from Planning and Programming or on the web at www.state.nd.us/dot/, click "Doing Business with NDDOT", then "Highway Performance Classification" under Planning and Programming Division. The performance classifications are defined in more detail in Section I-06.

Functional classifications of roadways are located in the 2003 Functional Highway Classification County Maps which can be obtained as hard copies from the Mapping Section.
